Fulbright-Hays Act Will Benefit Smaller Schools

Small colleges and universities will draw particular benefit from the new Fulbright-Hays Act, educators at a Lincoln conference which ended Friday were told. One of the important features of the revised act is that it permits institutional grants as well as grants to individual scholars, Dr. Francis A. Young of Washington, D.C., explained. This feature is particularly helpful to smaller schools, he said. The new act also extends the opportunity to scholars to get financial help for international meetings in their fields. Dr. Young, executive secretary of the Board of Research Councils, said.

Slide On Mt. Blanc Fatal To 3 ... 30 Others Hurt

Courmayeur, Italy (AP) — Tons of ice and rock tumbled off the slopes of Mt. Blanc Friday and buried 10 workmen for hours, killing 3 of them. Another 30 were injured.

A series of avalanches roared down on wooden barracks housing 300 Italian laborers building a road tunnel under the glacier of the Giant, next to 15,777-foot Mt. Blanc, Europe's tallest peak.

The men were asleep when the first slide began to rumble in the darkness near Entrèves, northwest of the tunnel mouth at Courmayeur.

First Mostly Soft Snow
The first slide was mostly soft snow. It did little damage to the bunkhouses, but severely damaged electric power and water pumping installations.

An hour later a massive avalanche of ice-encrusted rock and snow rained down off the slopes, smashing 4 barracks to pieces and partly crushing 4 others.

While 30 injured laborers were rushed to hospitals in the Aosta Valley, rescuers began digging through snow and earthen debris more than 18 feet deep. Eventually 3 bodies were found. One man pulled out alive had been buried seven hours. His condition is critical.

Women Peace Strikers Have Tea In Commons

London (AP) — Fifty American women belonging to the women's Strike for Peace movement flew into London from Geneva Friday and went to tea at the House of Commons.

Their hosts were Laborite legislators who support the British campaign for nuclear disarmament. Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral was there too.

The Americans, who spent 5 busy days in Geneva lobbying delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference, are to fly to Washington Saturday.

Credentials Offered

—DISARMAMENT— RUSSIANS BLOCKED U.S. And Britain Nay Red Brand Of Treaty

Geneva (AP) — The United States and Britain blocked an attempt by the Soviet Union Friday to get all nuclear weapons delivery systems and all overseas bases liquidated in the first stage of a general disarmament agreement.

American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph B. Goddard told the 17-nation disarmament conference a balanced approach to arms reduction must be agreed upon to prevent any nation from suddenly gaining an advantage over a rival.

As of now, the Americans and British have won a tactical victory, Western sources said. But the struggle in the conference over priorities is far from concluded. The basic point at issue is expected to be fought over many more times before decision is reached.

Spokesmen said the Americans and British suspect Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin is trying to get the conference to attack the disarmament problem strictly along lines favored by the Kremlin. Elimination of American overseas bases is high on the list of Moscow's diplomatic objectives.

The two described to a Senate Armed Services subcommittee communist tactics to use Americans and of the Army's efforts to train its troops to resist this. The testimony was a calm aftermath to two emotion-charged days of hearing ex-Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Tactics Described

Fitch, telling of communist tactics to obtain espionage help from American soldiers, said the Reds search for "a weakness in the character in the individual and then exploit on this."

If communist agents learn a military man is "careless in social relations" with native women in overseas posts, the general said, they trap him into a compromising position and then threaten to expose him to his wife or commander.

If the individual is in debt, Fitch said, the communists will encourage him to plunge deeper and then attempt to use this for blackmail.

Fitch was asked if Army intelligence knew of any efforts at internal communist subversion at or near military centers in this country. At first he said he was not aware of any specific cases. But later Fitch said communist agents had approached military personnel and civilians "occasionally and — regrettably — with some success."

Sharp Questioning

Fitch said there was no evidence of communist subversion being responsible for protests against callup of reservists or National Guardsmen for the Berlin crisis.

The general underwent highly critical and lengthy questioning by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who spearheaded the Senate investigation with his charges that anticommunist efforts by military leaders have been muzzled.

The lengthy questioning of Fitch by Thurmond stretched from midmorning into the afternoon and forced postponement of Hamlett's appearance. However, Hamlett's prepared statement was placed in the hearing record.

Troops Better Briefed

... About Communism

Washington (AP) — Army troop training against communist espionage and tactics has been greatly strengthened since the Korean war experience with collaborators in Red prison camps, two top Army generals testified Friday.

The witnesses, Gen. Barksdale Hamlett — recently promoted to full general and to vice chief of staff — and Maj. Gen. Alva R. Fitch, the Army's intelligence chief, said special attention is paid to troops overseas who might be exposed to communist spy activity.

The two described to a Senate Armed Services subcommittee communist tactics to use Americans and of the Army's efforts to train its troops to resist this. The testimony was a calm aftermath to two emotion-charged days of hearing ex-Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Nation's Jobless Picture Brightens

... Total 'Still Far Too High,' Goldberg Says

Washington (AP) — The nation's employment situation improved again in March, but Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said it left unemployment "still far too high."

Goldberg announced the March figures at a two-day briefing for newsmen covering the economic and labor-relations field. The statistics showed: Employment — Rose to a March record of 66,316,000, up 527,000 from February and 800,000 higher than in March last year.

Unemployment — Declined by 161,000 to 4,382,000, about 1.1 million lower than a year ago. The employment rise and unemployment decline — a showing a bit better than was expected with the advent of improved weather at this time of year — brought down the seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment to 5.5% of the labor force.

The 5.5 rate, lowest in 26 months, compares with 5.6% in February and 6.8% in March last year.

The labor force itself continued to reflect a failure to expand. It increased seasonally from February, but showed that 314,000 fewer people were in the job market in March than a year before. The labor force is normally expected to grow about one million annually.

Chairman Walter W. Heller of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, addressing the newsmen, said there is considerable unemployment not reflected in the official figures. He said some workers simply despair of entering the job market, and there are many employed, involuntarily, only part-time.

Philip Is Home; His Trip Caused Press Criticism

London (UPI) — Prince Philip returned Friday from a two-month South American tour that resulted in press criticism here for his blunt language and his appearance in scanty bathing trunks in the British Embassy swimming pool in Rio de Janeiro.

He left the airport immediately for Windsor Castle and a reunion with Queen Elizabeth. The trip to South America was undertaken to win the British crown new friends abroad and it generally is believed here he has strengthened British relations to the point where there can be a healthy increase in trade.

The smiling and sunburned Philip was met at the airport by ambassadors of the 10 countries he visited — Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Paraguay, Uruguay, Brazil and Argentina. Much of the press criticism of Philip was because of alleged extravagance and for his criticism of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express as a "bloody awful newspaper."

The word "bloody" is considered mildly profane in England. Philip said later he was joking when he used the words but the Express said the comment was "ill-mannered."

Fine Dog Owner For Assaulting Humane Chief

ATTORNEY SAYS DEAF-MUTE'S HANDICAP MITIGATING FACTOR

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Ronald Hunt, a 31-year-old deaf-mute, was fined $20 in Municipal Court Friday on charges of disorderly conduct in assaulting a Humane Society officer and of owning a dog without procuring a license.

Through his attorney and a sign-language interpreter, Hunt pleaded no contest to the two charges, changing his earlier plea of innocent.

A third charge that he permitted his dog to run at large was dismissed by the prosecuting attorney.

Only Mrs. Hunt was at their 7140 Havelock Ave. Home when the dog was picked up in the area along with another dog by the Humane Society.

The assault incident against Supt. Bernard Patton occurred at the shelter where Hunt went to claim his dog, according to statements in court.

Hunt's attorney said the defendant "failed to understand" the regulations and fees involved though the deaf-mute and shelter employees communicated by written notes.

He suggested that Hunt's handicap for normal communication was a mitigating factor in the case.

The climax came when Hunt, accompanied by Patton, found his dog to be in an "outside pen" at the shelter and thought the animal was sick.

Patton said he attempted by a written note to have Hunt return to the shelter office with him after some minutes at the pen.

Hunt aimed several blows at him, Patton told the court. "I managed to duck all but one. That one hit me hard in the chest."

Another shelter employee came to Patton's aid and the police were called.

In a 15-minute commentary from the bench, Judge Richard O. Johnson said he could "fully appreciate the defendant's concern and affection for his dog, but notwithstanding, he has a duty to conduct himself as a good citizen."

Judge Johnson agreed Hunt's handicap was mitigating in the case, but admonished Hunt that "officers performing their duties should not be abused or assaulted."

Suggests Apology

In assessing "only a $15 fine" on the assault charge, Judge Johnson also suggested that Hunt might apologize to Patton for hitting him.

Outside the courtroom, the deaf-mute "apologized" by shaking hands and putting his arm over Patton's shoulder. Hunt's wife, father and mother stood nearby.

NEW TERROR WAVE SWEEPS INTO ALGIERS

Algiers (AP)—The worst outbreak of terror since the March 19 cease-fire swept Algeria Friday. Authorities said more than 40 persons were slain.

In downtown Algiers, a European gunman walked through the streets shooting at Moslems for more than an hour, then escaped. He killed 5 persons and wounded several.

Almost all the killings were blamed on the European Secret Army Organization in its last-ditch campaign against Algerian independence.

In Algiers 22 or more persons, including 6 Europeans, were killed and in the Oran area terrorists killed 13 including two women.

CHAPLAIN: 'ANTIDOTE' FOR SIN IS SALVATION

"Until we know Jesus Christ, we probably won't know who we are," said Dr. William E. Rhodes, chaplain at the University of Denver.

Dr. Rhodes related inner peace to a personal relationship with God when he spoke at the Methodist Student Movement conference at the University of Nebraska.

Beginning with the creation, Dr. Rhodes told the history of man in relation to God.

Dr. Rhodes said the "antidote" for sin is salvation. And salvation is in Jesus of Nazareth.

"He is our peace," he said.

Youth Injured In Possible Assault

Catlin, 21, of 2145 Q, suffered the cuts and a broken nose in his car at 1st and Oak (U.S. 2-34), police said, when his head struck the dash.

Police were checking the possibility Catlin may have been assaulted.

Washington (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lyle A. Welch of Lincoln, state Civil Defense director, was elected District 6 regional vice president of the National Assn. of State Civil Defense Directors.

Chosen president-elect of the organization was Richard S. Gerstell, Pennsylvania's Civil Defense director.

Gerstell will take office for a one-year term beginning in June, 1963. He then will succeed Thomas Dignan as national president. Dignan is New Jersey's Civil Defense director.

The current president is Col. Hubert Schon, who is Civil Defense director for Minnesota.

Re-elected secretary-treasurer at the closing session of the 4-day meeting was George R. Rodericks, Civil Defense director for the District of Columbia.

Optimists Warned Of 'Creeping Corruption'

Lincoln-raised Dr. Raymond R. Rembolt, president of Optimist International, told local members that service club activity "can bring about favorable change" in modern affairs.

Speaking Friday night to more than 160 local Optimists at a homecoming banquet in his honor, Dr. Rembolt condemned creeping corruption in all walks of life.

Dr. Rembolt joined the Lincoln Optimist Club—host of the banquet—in 1938, and is now professor of pediatrics at the State University of Iowa in Iowa City.

Modern corruption crops up in many forms, Dr. Rembolt said, in lack of courage, in dishonesty, discourtesy, greed, fraud, winking at the law, and bribery.

"If this jerk philosophy gains sufficient momentum," the Grand Island native asserted, "we as a people are going to become as politically enslaved as the people behind the Iron Curtain, as much imprisoned as victims of Hitler's atrocities at Dachau."

Citing Sir Winston Churchill as "the greatest optimist of our time," Dr. Rembolt urged his listeners to "look on the sunny side of everything and make your Optimism come true."

Religion, good common sense, proven traditions, youth work and such programs as People To People, Good Ship Hope, Food For Peace and the Peace Corps can help brighten up modern conditions, he said.

Dr. Rembolt added that Optimists' emphasis on good citizenship, patriotism and international accord are of immense help, too.

FOE POKES MARTIN FOR 'JUNK MAIL'

Republican congressional candidate Bill Richards of Orleans Friday night scolded Rep. Dave Martin for "flooding" the new Third Congressional District with campaign questionnaires.

Richards and Martin are opponents in the Third District GOP primary race.

"Taxpayers . . . have been flooded with an estimated 175,000 pieces of 'Dave Martin junk mail' mailed at their expense," Richards charged.

"Anyone who isn't a member of Congress can't send mail out this way at any price, yet Congressman Martin sends it out at taxpayers' expense."

Richards said first class postage costs for the mailing would total a minimum of $6,400 "and the government envelopes and handling would bring the taxpayers' expense to at least $10,000."

"Congressman Martin has tried to make Nebraskans believe he is a great fighter for federal economy, but he's not hesitant to use federal funds for his own electioneering."

Dirksen Defends U.N.

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

GOP floor leader Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois isn't given to excessive defending of the Kennedy administration but he is of such a stature that partisanship has not become the obsession with him that it has with many. As a result of this, he gave a stirring speech on the Senate floor in favor of a compromise approach to United States support of the United Nations to the tune of a $100 million long-term, low interest rate loan.

Dirksen asked his colleagues: "Who would raise questions here about $100 million? Why, we spend more than that on lipstick in this country in a year. And we are asking this for an organization that is trying to isolate the forces that bring the scourge of war to the world." He went on to explain that he was quite willing to agree that many things done in the United Nations had displeased him. "But I do not want to see this effort that began 17 years ago falter. I am not going to charge my conscience," he said, "with a course of action that would go contrary to the foundation of the United Nations."

Dirksen's approach represents the kind of public service attitude that is needed if this nation is to meet its responsibilities and survive its challenges. There is no question that the United Nations has steered a course now and then that we have not favored. There is no question that the U.S. loan has some aspects of international blackmail, either, but these things are not all we have to consider.

If Russia and other communist bloc nations would pay their fair share of U.N. costs, that organization would be in no financial difficulty at this time. Payment by them has been refused in view of U.N. action in the Congo and the Middle East—actions that they considered adverse to their best interests. The U.S. pays whether it thinks what the U.N. is doing is right or wrong.

Now, it is easy enough to say that we are a patsy and that we are encouraging the Soviet Union to push us farther and farther in world affairs. Nor can there be any final answer at this time to refute such a position. Only time will tell us whether those who think this way are right or wrong. But what they are saying in essence is that we should adopt the same tactics as the enemy. The point of conflict here is that we are not motivated as are the communists and to surrender to their kind of behavior is to give them a victory. Either we believe in what the U.N. stands for or we do not.

The Hearing Ends

Former Major General Edwin A. Walker has had his day in court. He has stated his case, had a reporter in the eye and returned to the life of a citizen and his next task of seeing if he can muster enough votes to make a race of it for the Texas governorship.

Only those partisan in his behalf would agree that he made much of a case for his thesis that he could run the Army, the country and the world better than his superiors, including several presidents and their highly placed civil advisers. Like so many of his strong feeling kind the general built his case largely on assertions rather than on reasoned and factual material. But it was well that he was permitted to unburden himself.

He did raise the question of the correct-

The Anomalous Month

Speaking of April, the Christian Science Monitor differs sharply with the poets and the calendar people.

The Monitor insists that April in Paris does not come in April at all, but in May. It further contends that April does not end in April in England. It lasts all summer. It is also not at all sure that April showers bring May flowers. April is more apt to bring mud and dull landscapes and an awful lot of weather that is neither bitterly cold nor joyously warm, but just uninspiring.

One is inclined to agree with the Monitor, that it is an anti-social month, in that its good days seldom occur on week ends when plain people have a chance to play. It also offers 7 to 2 odds

Here And There

Over the state for the most part, it was "Operation Mop Up, Scrub Down and Sweep Out," with an appreciative eye being cast at greening fields, bluing skies and continued sunshine. The old proviso traditionally tacked onto any future planning was being altered to fit the moment and folks were grinning a bit tiredly as they said, "If the good Lord's willin' and the river don't rise—again."

Flooded fields southeast of Laurel presented a sight rarely seen in those parts.

On this basis, we cannot give it support when it does what we like and withhold our support when we don't favor it. We cannot pay according to what someone else is doing but must give of our means as we are able to do and as the needs of the organization dictate. This is the kind of philosophy by which we live and it would be a sad day if we abandoned it because of the influence of an ideology completely lacking in human understanding and compassion. When we are asked to support something at our community level, do we first determine what everyone else is doing? Do we refuse to give our support if our neighbor isn't giving his support? Some people do it that way and some senators look at the U.N. question that way—Curtis and Hruska of Nebraska, for instance.

But the individual with integrity, the individual who has the capacity to think for himself, the individual who is without selfishness—that person decides what is right for him to do and he does it. If it were not this way, then many fine and worthwhile things in our communities, our states and our nation would never get away from first base.

The circumstances of this and the U.N. situation may not be the same but the analogy is still a good one. We cannot apply one set of standards and one pattern of thinking and behavior in one instance and another at a different time. We cannot act from one set of principles in our conduct of domestic affairs and another set in foreign affairs.

We cannot be generous, determined, dedicated and unselfish in our relations with one another but niggardly and covetous in our relations with the rest of the world. If we believe in something on the international scene, then we should give it every bit of the resources and energy that is possible for us. If the U.N. is going to falter and die, then let it be someone else who has killed it. If the dream of a world at peace and men living in respect for each other is to be shattered, then let it be done by those who choose to live by the sword. Let those with evil and hatred and jealousy in their hearts spread the seeds of death and destruction; don't become a part of their viciousness.

If what they do—those who have as yet demonstrated no sincere reliance on and faith in the U.N.—comes to the point of a direct threat to our way of life, then let them feel the weight of our authority, our determination and our strength. Those who join in destructiveness are no better than those who instigated it in the first place.

ness of official decisions and that is always subject for concern, for certainly the nation will survive or fail according to the soundness of what is decided from day to day. But it is ever a question that requires time and events to give the answer. It does not lend itself to an easy solution of a few differing assertions given in a Senate hearing.

In his way General Walker is touchingly loyal. His motives, by the earnestness of his stated position, are free from question. Whether public opinion will sustain him in the contention that he was wronged by his superior officers and the civil authorities is a matter to itself. But his testimony impressed many that he is trigger happy and for that reason it would be better that he remain a civilian rather than a commander of troops at points of international sensitivity.

that whatever day one wishes to select as a good one will turn out not to be. These odds diminish as summer approaches.

Yet there are places in the great nation where April can't melt the ice in the lakes and other parts to the south where it marks the end of spring and the arrival of oppressively hot weather.

The trouble of course is not with April, but with the country itself. It is much too big. Too many states are in the wrong geographical position. It would be better if the calendar were made regional. In Minnesota April should be into the space now occupied by May. But in Arizona April should be given the spot occupied now by March. With that the poets could take pen in hand with more confidence.

The temporary lakes were attracting geese and ducks by the thousands, heading north to summer nesting grounds. One viewer thought it was a giant snow bank, until the activity was noticed.

Wisner reported wildlife of several varieties being disturbed thereabouts. Rising water on the Elkhorn drove a herd of 20 deer out of timber west of town and sent them running down the railroad track to newer and higher quarters. Even beaver, at home in the water, sought refuge. One animal came up to a restaurant, bared some very formidable teeth and had to be dispatched, although everyone concerned professed no knowledge of the episode, just in case a game warden were listening.

Cambridge welcomed a two-inch rain, all the while sympathizing with inundated northeast neighbors. . . . Kimball opened its water-skiing and boating season even while snowdrifts measured a considerable depth in other parts of the state. A hardy soul there had been out once before, but had had to kick ice out of the way so didn't count that. . . . Tractors, preferably with chains on, are standard equipment these days, parked at the end of most lanes, a Scribner writer observed. There is a choice. One either pulls the car up to the house with the tractor, or parks the car at the end of the lane and rides the tractor back and forth. . . . The Wymore Arbor-Base was still wondering when last year's corn crop was going to be harvested. . . . The Plattsmouth Journal knew of one such region where that was quite definitely decided. All corn unpacked along the river bottom there was completely lost in flood waters. . . .

Sweet Daddy Grace Estate $20 Million

WASHINGTON — The nation's capital has seen some interesting elections, but today it will witness an election to control the earthly legacy of "Sweet Daddy" Grace, the Portuguese Negro evangelist who amassed $20,000,000 from his faithful.

Four hundred of Sweet Daddy's followers gather in Washington, under the auspices of the U.S. District Court through its receiver William B. Bryant, to vote on who will take over the affairs of the Founder and Bishop of the House of Prayer For All People.

The election will be by secret ballot, since there has been pressure on Sweet Daddy's followers and fear of reprisal if they don't vote right.

It was in January 1960 that Sweet Daddy, of the long fingernails and flowing hair, revered by thousands as a divine being, went to join his maker. He had come to the United States in 1903 from the Portuguese Cape Verde Islands, a poor immigrant Negro. Before he died he had a fleet of 12 Cadillacs and private mansions in half a dozen cities.

His Los Angeles mansion was valued at $450,000. It contained 85 rooms, 21 baths, a modern swimming pool and a huge ballroom.

He had a 10-room mansion in Savannah, others in Detroit and Washington. In New York, he owned the 28-story El Dorado apartment building on Central Park West, one of the city's tallest, with 216 apartments. He owned a rhine-modeled castle at Bridgeport, Conn., a

Nixon's Career Plagued By Series Of Accidents

WASHINGTON—Some people are accident prone. There is no explanation for this phenomenon, any more than there is for the equally strange fact that certain persons are naturally controversial.

If politics becomes the career of such men, they are usually hated or loved. There is no comfortable middle ground; no tolerant cross-section of the electorate willing to "give them the benefit of the doubt."

At their first stumble, ghouls are eagerly waiting to pounce. Their slightest mistakes are magnified out of proportion. Such individuals are often brilliant and constructive, with marvelous talents that can advance the nation's good; yet their every act has a tendency to incite violent arguments between those who admire and dislike them.

Richard M. Nixon is such a man. His newly published book, "Six Crises," tells in his own words the major hurdles and fiascos of his career. Typically, the book itself has touched off at least two more crises for Richard Milhous Nixon:

1. A noisy controversy with the White House over whether Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy was or was not briefed by the CIA about our training of Cuban invading forces, before he proposed U.S. action during a televised debate with Nixon. Nixon will note Kennedy's "denial" in a footnote of the next edition, but he has not withdrawn the charge.

THEY WALKED WITH CHRIST

Anna, The Prophetess

Although the Scripture refers to this pious widow as a prophetess, it is clear from the context that she was a mystic in the better sense of the word, rather than a mere soothsayer.

Like Jacob, from whom her tribe claimed descent, she struggled with the mysteries of God, seeking an understanding beyond man's world.

Even though she was eighty-four years old, her advanced age had not dimmed her spiritual vision. Rather, she had quickened it by "fastings and prayers night and day."

A familiar figure in the Temple, where she spent most of her time, she must have been an inspiration to those who came to worship and pray.

There were many who had a greater knowledge of the Scriptures than she — the scribes and publicans, and Pharisees. But among them there were few who loved God more. And, as Pascal has observed, "How far it is from the knowledge of God to a love of Him!"

Because of her devotion and constant attendance at the Temple, she entered just as Simeon uttered his moving prayer of thanks to God for the privilege of holding in his arms the Salvation of the world.

And she "gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of Him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem."

"And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser: she was of a great age . . ." — Luke 11:36

How was it, we may ask, that both Simeon and Anna instantly recognized in the small bundle that Mary held in her arms, the supernatural power and majesty of the awaited King of Kings?

Was it a happy coincidence, a bit of fortunate guesswork on the part of two wishful thinkers who had dwelt overlong on the words and promise of the prophets? No, the evangelist makes it clear in his brief account that Anna and Simeon had prepared themselves by devotion, fastings and prayer to know God when he appeared before them.

The Effects

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to challenge the statement that liquor by the drink would help Lincoln to grow mentally as well as physically. The liquor-inspired riots of the college youth in Fort Lauderdale and other beaches did not impress the residents there of the superior mental accomplishments of those young people. The statement that four out of five New Yorkers are impaired mentally comes from a state where liquor by the drink is legal.

We are told that the average life span of a man who does not use alcohol is 68 years but that this is lowered to 52 if the man uses alcohol. Excessive use of alcohol and tobacco have been associated with diseases of the heart and blood, and lung cancer which is increasing each year. With all our new miracle drugs, we seem to be fighting a losing battle because the diseases caused by alcohol and cigarettes do not respond to antibiotics.

Welfare State

Lincoln, Neb.

Goldwater's message was a timely one and should be considered with all sincerity. However, only deep-thinking persons truly understood of what he was speaking. One could perhaps say that it was a prophetic warning. Of course, the positive means of gaining disension is to take a stand for what one believes is right and noble. Only a courageous and religious man will make such a stand.

I wish to quote from a Life Line radio transcript, "Living For Freedom."

"The welfare state makes beggars out of proud men, cowards of strong men, and serfs of free men. Benjamin Franklin said, 'They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither safety nor liberty.' General Eisenhower said, 'By every step we take toward making the state the caretaker of our lives, by that much we move toward making the state our master.'"

I wish to add one more quote: "There is no security in this world, only opportunity." Let us think hard on this one.

Vandalism

Walton, Neb.

Beautiful Wyuka is so peaceful and quiet. One wonders if those who vandalized it have no respect either for the living or dead. The faithful caretaker makes the rounds all day, looking after the cemetery, and then those who destroy sneak in at night. What have they gained? Do they have no loved ones resting beneath the sod?

The next time Satan tempts them, they should pause for a moment of prayer, read a chapter in the Bible or sing some good hymns. Then perhaps their attitude of hatred will be changed. They have harmed only themselves and should remember that they will pay for what they have done.

Let us help to keep Wyuka beautiful and peaceful and free from destruction.

Our Worst Enemy

Ansley, Neb.

Fear is one of the worst enemies anyone can have. When we are children, our parents reassure us and look after us in time of doubt. All through life we struggle along some way, very unsure of ourselves at times.

This little poem may be encouraging:

"Don't be afraid of anything. Through life just freely roam. The world belongs to all of us. So make yourself at home."

Peace Corps Vote

Lincoln, Neb.

The report on the vote of Nebraska's entire congressional delegation regarding Peace Corps expansion is a pretty fair example of the dedicated narrow-minded reactionary who really works at it full time. There is no area for politics or partisan thinking in a matter of this sort, and we can certainly hope most fervently that such a negative view en masse does not reflect the majority of state thinking or even a small part of it. Nebraska may be conservative, but heaven help us if we can't see farther than the end of our noses on this.

Such programs as the Peace Corps are our one best hope today. It has proven out on a small scale and there is no argument of any kind against enlarging and expanding it and similar ventures. These young people are our ambassadors of peace on a practical, workable basis and it is only through them that we are going to make any kind of headway in getting the world back onto a sane and neighborly basis. They are not telling the world about democracy and its way of living and doing. They are showing it. They are right in there with their talents and their time, with no desire for personal reward. And we have got to back them up all the way, in spite of such stupidity and utter lack of common sense as has been displayed by Nebraska's congressmen in voting unanimously against their valiant efforts.

East And West

Lincoln, Neb.

There seems to be confusing news about Berlin. We read of people there leaping out of apartment windows or trying to get through the barbed wire to escape communist East Germany. This news is generally on the front pages.

However, I read a small dispatch tucked away on an inside page. It told of the East communists tightening the East-West city border and turning back about 1,000 West Berliners trying to commute to their jobs in East Berlin. East Berlin, as I understand it, is communist territory. Why would West Berliners residing in the free world want to go over and work in that terrible communist world?

It seems to me that if he's deceptive in this respect he may be deceptive in other ways. What do you think?"

Methodist Giving
Cincinnati (UPI)—Methodists gave $12,681,715 to their colleges, universities, seminaries and Wesley foundations last year. The Rev. Dr. William E. Clark, director of church and public relations for the Methodist Division of Higher Education, said this was a record and about $800,000 more than was given in 1960.

A. Gee whiz, do you tell him all the tricks you employ to enhance your attractiveness? If you're like most women you use a dozen deceivers, ranging from girdles to lipstick, to improve on nature. Surely a man who uses a few false sprigs of turf to perk up his profile doesn't deserve being tagged a cheat.
Q. "The plant I worked for gave me a motor boat when I retired two months ago at 65. I've been using it every day on the lake near our home. My wife fusses at me because I can not swim. Don't you agree her worry is unnecessary since I always take along a life preserver and the boat has a flat bottom making it nearly impossible to capsize?"
A. I go along with the theory that everyone who uses boats should know how to swim. Why not take some lessons — you'll not only learn to swim but you may discover a brand new form of relaxation. Your wife has reason to worry — husbands your age are scarce.

Q. "One of our golden age clubbers is a former congressman. When he found that only 22 per cent of us members voted in the last election he gave us a stern lecture. But it seems to me that when you're along in years you should be able to step aside and let younger people carry on politically. Don't you agree?"
A. No — elder citizens with their 16,000,000 votes are tremendously important politically. Keeping actively abreast of politics and current events will also keep your mind alert and your conversation interesting.

This doesn't mean you have to be waving flags at every rally, but it does mean you should get to know the candidates and turn out to vote on election day.
Q. "I'm 68, shut in a good bit due to arthritis in both legs, and spend my days watching television. Now my doctor tells me I'll endanger my sight unless I limit my teevee watching to an hour a day. What am I expected to do — sit and stare at the 4 walls?"
A. What did shut-ins do before television? Learn to do things with your hands — try toymaking, leathercraft, woodworking, and weaving. Use your telephone in getting acquainted with every elder citizen in your community. Invite people in often for visits. Get a phonograph and obtain "talking books" from your library. Hymnals For Blind In Brisk Demand

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — A little-known project at a Louisville firm enables the blind to join in the singing of hymns at their churches, even if they don't know the words.

Hymnals in Braille are turned out at the American Printing House for the Blind. "They're particularly valuable to blind choir singers and blind organists," says Miss Marjorie Hooper, braille and large type editor. "You'd be surprised at the number of blind organists."

Printing of currently used hymnals for the blind began in the 1930s. One of the first was the St. Gregory Hymnal and Catholic Choir Book.

The Catholic Hymnal, Methodist Hymnal and a general Protestant hymnal all include musical notations as well as the words, although the two Lutheran hymnals do not.

Another denomination, the Episcopal, also has been talking with Miss Hooper about putting their hymnal into Braille.

District Court Is Affirmed In Land Title Quieting Case

The State Supreme Court Friday affirmed Loup County District Court in a land title quieting case.

Background of the action: In 1924, W. C. Heeter, who owned the land at that time, mortgaged it to John M. Holcombe. Holcombe assigned his mortgage to the Merchants Mutual Burglary Insurance Co. Heeter later conveyed the land to William Heider subject to the mortgage.

In 1929 the insurance company foreclosed the mortgage. Heider was the record title holder but was not made a party to the foreclosure action. At the sheriff's sale the land was bought by the insurance company. The sheriff's deed was recorded on Feb. 28, 1931.

The Lincoln Bonding and Insurance Company is the successor to The Merchants Mutual Burglary Insurance Company. In 1950, the bonding company entered into a contract to sell the land to Earl Peterson.

On Jan. 31, 1951, Heider and his wife conveyed the land by quitclaim deed to Everett Satterfield. On Jan. 19 of the same year, Heider conveyed the land a second time by quitclaim deed to the bonding company which recorded the deed on Jan. 24

1951. Satterfield recorded his deed on Feb. 2.

The court action was brought by Satterfield against Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peterson, the Lincoln Bonding and Insurance Company, and Clarence Bain, who formerly occupied the land as tenant but made no appearance or defense to the action.

The trial court found generally in favor of the defendants. The court ruled that the bonding company and the Petersons, and their predecessors in title, had been in adverse possession of the land since 1930 and that the deed from Heider to the plaintiff conveyed no right or claim of title.

Title to the land was quieted in the bonding company, subject only to the interests of the Petersons as purchasers.

In other action, the court: —Upheld a ruling of the Harland County District Court. In that action The Industrial Loan & Investment Company brought suit against Mr. and Mrs. Keith D. Lowe, Mamie E. Forbes and her husband, Vern, and Donald Bastemeyer, Nebraska Commissioner of Labor, to determine the rights and their priority in a piece of real estate in Harland county. The company also sought to foreclose and sell the premises and apply the proceeds among the liens and interests as determined by the court. The Lexington Mill and Elevator Company was later, by leave of the court, made a party defendant.

The Forbes sold the property to the Loves for $7,000. The contract was assigned to the company to secure a note of $3,000 and interest. Bastemeyer and the elevator were alleged to be subsequent lienholders.

The Forbes admitted the execution of the contract for sale of the real estate between themselves as sellers and the Loves. The Forbes said that the Loves took possession of the premises and made payments until Sept. 1, 1959, but later defaulted in their payments and abandoned the premises. The Forbes canceled the contract and notified the Loves and the plaintiff of the rescission. The court was requested to confirm the action of the Forbes in cancellation of the contract and to quiet title in Mamie E. Forbes as the record owner.

The trial court dismissed the company's petition and quieted title in Mamie Forbes, except as to the marital rights of her husband.

Ruled against an Omaha man in an action to collect $100 he had deposited with the Municipal Court of Omaha as an appearance bond for another man.

Douglas County District Court and on Oct. 9, 1961, ruled in favor of Harold A. Koop of Omaha in the action, but the decision was reversed on appeal by the city to the high court.

Koop had filed the bond for Robert E. Timperley of Omaha for a court appearance on two city traffic violations. When he later could not reclaim the bond, he filed the court action against the city, D. B. Anderson, Clerk of the Municipal Court, and Frank Elias, Deputy Clerk of the court.

Koop said he posted the cash bond with Elias on Feb. 27, 1962, and that Timperley did appear as scheduled on Feb. 28 of that year. He said that they were advised then that the case had been continued until July 11, 1962.

In the July trial, Koop said, the trial judge found Timperley guilty as charged and fined him $100 and costs. Koop added, however, that he was then unable to reclaim the bond he had posted.

In the opinion Friday, the high court said that it appears that Elias had not authority to take the cash bond and such acceptance constituted a void act on his part.

The receipt for such bond is meaningless, the court said.

—Altered its Feb. 9 opinion dismissing an action asking for a declaratory judgment constraining a last will and testament and remanded the case to the district court for new trial.

The high court had reversed a Cheyenne County District Court decision in an action in which Harvey E. Marsh sought the declaratory judgment in the will of his father, Alfred E. Marsh.

Alfred Marsh died Feb. 5, 1959, and his son's petition was filed Nov. 21 of the same year. Dora Marsh, the widow, and Fern Marsh Olsen, daughter of the deceased, were made defendants.

The high court had been asked to change its order by Dora Marsh, who asserted that the directions to dismiss could only have the effect of delaying the proceedings and cause unnecessary expense in refiling the action.

Frontier Told To Fly Northern Route

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

In an historic ruling Friday, the Nebraska Railway Commission denied Frontier Airlines permission to discontinue service on its northern Nebraska route and ordered the service re-instated within 60 days.

Frontier, which stopped service on the route in December following an order from the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), is expected to appeal the ruling to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

In its 36-page ruling, the commission also rejected Frontier's contention that the commission does not have jurisdiction over the matter.

Frontier had petitioned the commission to hold either that the Nebraska agency lacks jurisdiction in the case, or in the alternative to permit the airlines to drop Segment 13 of its northern route serving Omaha, Norfolk, Ainsworth, Valentine and Chadron.

"It is undisputed that without the permission of this commission the applicant has ceased furnishing the service which was in effect when the application was filed, and that for some months the area involved has been without service.

60-Day Deadline

"Under the circumstances, and since we are by this order denying the application to discontinue, it is ordered that the carrier reinstitute the service it was providing when this application was filed, within 60 days from this date (April 6)," the 3 commissioners held.

The commission has steadfastly maintained that the air transportation involved is "completely intrastate in character," and thus does not come under federal jurisdiction.

"Since to supersede state authority by federal jurisdiction strikes at the delicate balance between federal and state activities, there is a strong presumption that federal authority has not superseded state authority in the intrastate field," the commission held.

Congress repeatedly has refused to assign to the federal government exclusive jurisdiction over air carriers, the commission said.

Losses Questioned

The commission challenged Frontier's figures on losses it claims to have sustained in operating the northern route, and charged the airline with deliberately discouraging traffic on Segment 13.

Frontier has stated that in 1960 its revenue on the northern route totaled $69,483, and its expenditures were $260,437 for a loss of $190,954.

The commission challenged Frontier's method of calculation and said revenue actually was $27,300 greater than the figures Frontier provided.

In its overall operations, Frontier lost $66,032 in 1959, but realized a profit of $329,123 in 1960, the commission noted. In the first 8 months of 1961 the airline achieved an operating profit of $603,000, the commission said.

"Any loss resulting from operations over the route in question will be recognized in computing the profits which will be shared with the government," the commission said.

As for the matter of service, the commission said that after careful consideration of the evidence, it was convinced that "given adequate service by a willing carrier, the cities along the route, and their respective trade areas, would generate far more traffic than that experienced in the past.

Inadequate Service

"The principal reason for the decline in traffic after the initial steady growth over a period of 9 months, was not a lack of need for the service, or any unwillingness on the part of the inhabitants to use the service, but rather to inadequacies and undependability of the service in the respects heretofore discussed.

"And in other respects shown by the evidence, the apparent unwillingness of the carrier to provide service, the announced intention and subsequent campaign to discontinue the service, and the suppression of traffic by the substitution of connecting service to Omaha for the more reliable single-plane service previously furnished," the commission continued.

The commission then held that until Frontier has rendered reasonably adequate service over the route for a reasonable length of time, has exerted reasonable efforts to attract patronage, and the traveling public was given a reasonable time to recognize the reliability and dependability of the service, it is not entitled to commission authorization to discontinue service.

"If after such a program were carried on for a reasonable period the traveling public should refuse to use the service (a result which we would not be justified in foreseeing at this time), then of course a different situation would be presented," the commission said.

Also challenged by the commission was Frontier's failure to provide service to Columbus after it was certificated to do so, charging that had such service been instituted results would have been reflected in revenue on Segment 13.

Trio Fined, One Dismissed After Gambling Raid

Three Lincoln men pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Friday on gambling charges. Each was fined $25 and costs.

Charges against a 4th man were dismissed because he had apparently taken no part in the gambling.

The 4 men were arrested late Thursday at the Stardust Club, 5600 O. Police said an anonymous complaint about the gambling had been received.

Gov. Morrison Poked For 'Violation Of Public Trust'

Lincoln Star Special

Omaha — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Mrs. Ralph G. Brooks Friday night said the administration of Gov. Frank Morrison has been "caught in a violation of public trust."

In a prepared statement, Mrs. Brooks said, in part: "First, in an effort to manufacture an image of integrity, Governor Morrison issued an edict which forbade politicians from doing business with any state agency."

"Almost immediately, his campaign manager, Mr. (J. J.) Exon — a confirmed politician — began securing contracts through the purchasing department with the approval of the governor and the purchasing agent, Mr. (George) Morris."

"Not only was this a flagrant violation of the public trust, but the equipment supplied by the governor's manager did not meet specifications."

"Second, in the case of the open-door policy, the governor obviously knew that firms which sell 'front end load' mutual funds and open face certificate contracts were re-instated without a public hearing less than a few weeks after the administration came to office, that these funds had been banned in the previous administration as in several other states because they were not in the public interest."

"I stated before that I believe in an open-door policy—but mine will be the front door, not the back."

"The investing public should not be made to suffer for this violation of trust as business confidence in the administration suffered in the purchasing department affair."

"The present administration must be held accountable by every citizen who wants to see something more than a slogan to hide incompetence, inefficiency and goodness knows what else."

CORE Prohibited

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. upheld a state court order prohibiting the Congress of Racial Equality from doing business in Alabama.

Taking Second Look

London (AP) — Britain appeared to be having second thoughts on whether the new Argentine regime of President Jose Maria Guido needs to be recognized formally. The Foreign Office said it seemed a formal act would be required to acknowledge Argentina's change of presidents. Later, however, British officials took the line that an act of recognition may not be needed at all. They said the Foreign Office still is considering the problem.

Northwestern Bell To Reduce Rates In Nebraska

Lower rates for telephone calls within Nebraska as charged by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Omaha will go into effect May 6, the Nebraska Railway Commission announced Friday.

The rate reductions are designed to reduce annual Nebraska intrastate toll revenue by approximately $350,960.

An example of the rate reduction: whereas the company formerly charged $1.25 for a 3 minute station-to-station 270 and 294 miles apart, the new rate for a similar call between points 268 to 292 miles apart becomes $1.05.

Night, Sunday

Revisions are included also in night and Sunday rates and person-to-person rates, as well as for the additional charges for minutes called in excess of the basic 3 minutes.

The railway commission last month ordered Northwestern Bell to reduce its rates. The action grew out of a study made by the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners, the Federal Communications Commission and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. on the question of how much of the Bell System's interstate plant, revenues and expenses should be charged against interstate operations, and how much should be charged against intrastate operations.

Cut Disparity

The study suggested that intrastate (within-the-state) rates should be reduced to alleviate a disparity between them and interstate rates.

Under the new rates, the maximum difference in cost between an interstate call and an intrastate call of the same mileage will be 10 cents, in contrast to the present 20 cents.

Also, the additional charges for overtime calls in computed to the exact or next lower whole cent, as compared to the next lower 5 cents as at present.

New System

The commission said Northwestern Bell also proposes to institute a new system for calculating airline distance between points for determining long distance charges.

"The system is used in connection with interstate rates and is designed to permit greater accuracy in determining rate distances," the commission said.

Some examples of the new rates:

20-25 miles—30 cents for station-to-station calls; 50 cents for person-to-person calls.

55-70 miles—55 cents daytime and 50 cents night and Sunday for station-to-station calls; 55 cents daytime and 50 cents night and Sunday for person-to-person calls.

100-124 miles—70 cents daytime and 60 cents night and Sunday for station-to-station calls; $1.25 daytime and $1.15 night and Sunday for person-to-person calls.

220-224 miles—95 cents daytime and 80 cents night and Sunday on station-to-station calls; $1.60 daytime and $1.45 night and Sunday on person-to-person calls.

330-470 miles—$1.30 daytime and $1.10 night and Sunday on station-to-station calls; $2.20 daytime and $2 night and Sunday on person-to-person calls.

the next lower 5 cents as at present.

New System

Guido Completes New Cabinet For Argentina

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP) — President Jose Maria Guido overcame some military opposition to his choice for economics minister Friday and completed an 8-man cabinet to guide the nation through difficult times ahead.

At the same time deposed President Arturo Frondizi was disclosed to have sent word from his island of banishment to his political cohorts to calm down and make no more trouble for the new government.

Federico Pinedo, 67, reported to be a member of the liberal school of economics who favors free trade, was chosen by Guido for the important economics ministry.

But the president, sworn in a week ago to succeed Frondizi, ran into difficulty when some of the military chiefs, who have set themselves up as watchdogs over his appointments, objected to Pinedo's condition that he be allowed a free hand to select his staff.

Military Wrangles

Army Secretary Gen. Marino Bartolome Carrera, Navy Secretary Rear Adm. Gaston C. Clement and Air Secretary Brig. Jorge Rojas Silveira wrangled among themselves over the appointment. Guido finally sidestepped their opposition when he called in a group of the nation's top economists for consultation.

A presidential spokesman said they backed Pinedo to a man and in view of this favorable opinion the military leaders decided to accept the appointment for the time being.

The new president swore in two strong anti-Peronists, Jose Mariano Drago as foreign minister, and Ernesto Lanusse as defense minister. Both were members of the government of Gen. Pedro Aramburu which followed the overthrow of former dictator Juan Peron.

Quieting Effect

Frondizi, who was deposed by the military on the ground that his policies permitted a resurgence of the Peronists in elections last month, was reported to have had a quieting effect on his partisans among the Intransigent Radicals who have been planning mass demonstrations to demand his return to power.

Emilio Donato Del Carril, retiring ambassador to Washington, visited Frondizi at his enforced residence on Martin Garcia Island, and brought back this advice: "Be calm, do not try to upset the country further."

Visitors to the island, in the River Plate 40 miles from Buenos Aires, said the deposed president is living in a comfortable 3 bedroom house and is allowed to roam the streets and woods as he pleases. His wife and a valet have joined him there.

Auditorium's Budget Shows 'High Gain'

Pershing Municipal Auditorium's 1961-62 fiscal budget shows a "higher gain" at mid-point than the previous fiscal year's.

A revenue gain of $15,848 over expense at mid-year was reported Friday to the Auditorium Advisory Board. Last year's comparable figure was $6,431.

The revenue total of $97,635 thus far breaks down as performance receipts, $67,440, and concessions, $30,295.

Auditorium Manager Ike Hoig told the board that advance ticket sales for the Harlem Globetrotters performance on April 16 indicate a capacity house.

In other action, the board authorized the development of preliminary plans for trees and additional landscaping on the south side of the auditorium.

Writers Criticized

Warsaw, Poland (AP) — Polish writers were criticized at a Warsaw Communist Party committee meeting for not only failing "to engage themselves on the side of socialism" but for almost ignoring it completely.

FEDERAL JUDGE RULES GOLDFINE IS INSOLVENT

Boston (AP) — A federal judge Friday ruled that industrialist Bernard Goldfine, 71, once noted for gift-giving to political figures, is insolvent.

Judge George C. Sweeney reappointed 3 lawyers — Charles W. Bartlett, Joseph F. Rooney, and Sumner H. Babcock, receivers for Goldfine and all his properties in Massachusetts.

Two Goldfine textile mills in Lebanon, N.H., already are in the hands of a court-appointed receiver, and Goldfine's Northfield mills, in Vermont, are operating under a federal court-named receiver.

In re-naming the receivers, the judge commented, "I am satisfied Goldfine will never voluntarily clear up the mess which he has created."

Goldfine, who has been convalescing from a mild stroke, was paroled recently after serving 3 months' imprisonment for evasion of $780,000 income taxes.

Sweeney said receivers are needed to protect the government's claim of $2,150,330 back taxes from 1952 through 1957. For the years from 1958 through 1960, the judge added, Goldfine owes at least $765,245.

The judge said the industrialist now, at best, has assets of $1,910,500.

A Helpful Hand--When Needed Most!

We asked Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Butcher of Morrill, Nebraska what they liked about their Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospital-medical protection. Here's Dick Butcher's answer:

"We like it because it pays directly to the doctor and hospital, and is recognized and accepted by all. We have found that Blue Cross-Blue Shield have better coverage than the two companies that we formerly had policies with. We have been paid promptly and fairly."

It's always pleasant to receive an endorsement like that. And it's something of a responsibility, too. We realize that prompt payment of claims helps erase family hardships following illness. Take the Butcher family's case: Dick's a farmer

... been one for 15 years while he and wife Donna were raising crops and children — Rick, 12, Randy, 9, Susan, 2, and Julie Ann, 7 months (and incidentally, a Blue Cross-Blue Shield paid-for addition).

Last year the Butchers had doctor and hospital bills totaling $1,207.80. Of this, Blue Cross-Blue Shield paid $1,062.75. There was Dick's kidney infection and surgery, Julie Ann's arrival, and several medical check-ups.

And it all added up to just $155.05 out of the young family's pocket. No wonder the Butcher family likes Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection. You will, too. Call us—have a helpful hand when you need it.

GIVE HOPE! CONQUER MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

WHEN WILL MS BE CURED? SAY WHEN WITH YOUR DOLLARS!

What is MS?

Multiple Sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system. Any injury to the central nervous system is apt to have far reaching effects. When a nerve impulse passes through a damaged part, the bodily functions which it controls may be disturbed or destroyed.

What are symptoms of MS?

Each symptom by itself doesn't necessarily mean MS. But when any combination of them appears, see your doctor.

1. Paralysis
2. Seeing double
3. Inability to talk clearly
4. Tremors
5. Staggering and falling
6. Lack of bladder or bowel control

Whom does MS affect?

MS is no respecter of sex, occupation, or previous state of health. Athletes, students, mothers, fathers, laborers, professionals—people from all walks of life have been numbered among its victims. Most authorities agree that MS is not hereditary, although more than one case in a family has been known to occur. MS is not contagious.

60% of your contribution is retained in this area to support local programs tailored to the community needs for aid of MS patients in a personal way. The purpose of chapter patient service programs can be stated simply: To enable MS patients to live within the limits of their disabilities but to the maximum of their capabilities.

Justice Frankfurter 'Quite Satisfactory'

Washington, (AP) — Justice Felix Frankfurter settled down Friday in his hospital room for what his doctor said would be "a short period of rest."

The 79-year-old justice, oldest man on the Supreme Court bench, was rushed to George Washington University Hospital Thursday after he collapsed at his office desk.

Dr. George A. Kelser Jr. diagnosed the cause as a brief interruption in normal blood supply to the brain. He said Frankfurter did not lose consciousness but did suffer a temporary but very passing inability to use an arm.

The technical language in which the doctor phrased it was "a transient episode of acute cerebrovascular insufficiency, which cleared spontaneously and left no residual after effect."

Heart Is Good

Kelser said Frankfurter's heart "remains in good condition and played no role in his present illness." The justice was hospitalized with what was called a heart disturbance 3 years ago.

The hospital described his condition as "quite satisfactory."

The court is due to meet next Monday to hand down opinions. There was no indication what effect Frankfurter's illness would have on cases the justices had planned to act on then and the hearings scheduled this month.

Until Frankfurter returns to the bench the court will be operating with 7 justices unless the one vacancy is filled before then. The Senate has yet to act on President Kennedy's nomination of Byron R. White, deputy attorney general, to replace Justice Charles E. Whittaker, who resigned last week because of his health.

Presumably the other justices will be reluctant to act on any cases in which Frankfurter took part until he returns to his desk.

Dead Man's Run Plans Get OK By Sanitary District

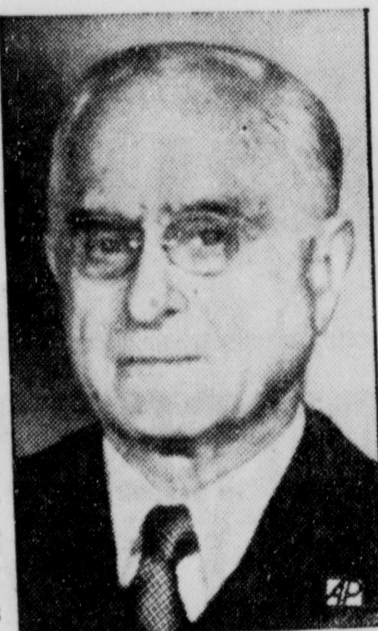

The Sanitary District board Friday gave the go ahead to plans for straightening and improving a quarter-mile of Dead Man's Run channel near East O at approximately 76th.

The project is related to city plans for opening Skyway Road in Eastborough 4th addition onto East O.

District Engineer Dick DeVries said the city has bridge plans ready to go when district work on the channel is completed.

He said district crews could begin on the channel work as soon as right-of-way easements are negotiated.

Other board action was on routine matters.

Sorrell Files Petition Objecting To Motion For Injunction

Former Liquor Control Commissioner Frank Sorrell Friday filed a petition with the clerk of the Nebraska Supreme Court objecting to a motion for a permanent injunction barring him from performing the functions of the commission.

Gov. Frank Morrison fired Sorrell Jan. 26 for a conflict of interest arising out of sale advertisements he placed in newspapers for two liquor licensees. Sorrell is a Syracuse real estate broker.

The attorney general, on Feb. 1, obtained a temporary injunction to keep Sorrell from acting as a liquor control commissioner, after Morrison appointed Francis Robinson of Ashland to succeed Sorrell.

The Supreme Court previously turned down a motion for dissolution of the temporary injunction and gave Sorrell until Friday to show cause why the order should not be made permanent.

The petition maintains Sorrell is still legally a member of the commission and "alleges that the proper and efficient functioning of state government has been interfered with by the restraining order and by appointment by the governor of a successor to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission."

It contends that the conflict of interest charges improperly imposed the burden of proof on Sorrell and were "illegal, invalid and not in accordance with constitutional requirements . . ."

The high court again was asked to drop the temporary injunction against Sorrell while his appeal of the dismissal is pending in Lancaster County District Court.

Also filed was a petition asking the attorney general to answer 15 questions regarding the case.

Briefs must still be filed by both parties before the Supreme Court hears oral arguments on the motion for the permanent injunction.

It Seems To Me

Tips On Making Slip Covers

skirt 10 inches wide, allowing one inch for the hem and one inch for the seam allowance, making the finished skirt eight inches wide.

Ruffled Skirt (Figure 1): The chair illustrated has a shirred or ruffled flounce. For this type skirt, measure around the chalked line on the slipcover, and cut fabric twice this measurement. Make a one-inch hem along one long edge. Then gather the band along the other long edge until it is the proper length. Adjust gathers so they are even and stitch the ruffle to the slipcover.

Box Pleat (Figure 2): When cutting this skirt, cut a strip three times longer than the measurement around the chalked line. This extra fullness is necessary to allow the backs of the pleats to meet, as shown. Make a one-inch hem; form the pleats and stitch them to the slipcover.

Kick Pleats (Figure 3): Kick pleats are used at the corners. Measure the distance around the chalked line and add 64 inches. Cut a band of fabric 18 inches wide (other skirts are 10 inches wide), and as long as necessary. Fold the band in half lengthwise, making the band nine inches wide. The fold serves as facing, giving this flat tailored skirt more body. Pin the pleats at each corner, so that each kick pleat folds back eight inches. Stitch them to slipcover.

Decorated Overskirt (Figure 4): This is a decorative strip, an overskirt, over a tailored skirt having kick pleats. Cut two strips as wide as desired and equal in length to the distance around the chair. Cut the strips any shape you wish. The one illustrated is cut with a caloped edge. Stitch the two strips together with their right sides facing. Turn to right side, press, and stitch the finished decorative strip to the underskirt and welting, forming an overskirt, and then stitch to the slipcover.

A slipcover must be finished on the bottom with a skirt, and I've chosen the four most popular ways to do this.

First, however, here are some hints for fitting and cutting slipcovers. Fit and cut slipcovers on the right side. If you fit them on the wrong side, your chair arms will not fit properly, because they'll be reversed. The problem is that chair arms are rarely exactly even. Always pin and cut fabric on the straight grain, up and down from the floor, even if a panel of the chair slants. Never follow the slant. Allow enough fabric for a five-inch tuck-in across the back of the seat, on each side of the seat, and where the arm joins the back. Cut one-inch seam allowances straight and even so this cut edge can act as a guide for sewing and putting in welting or trim.

Preparation For Making Skirts: With chalk, mark the seam line for attaching the skirt on the slipcover eight inches from the floor all around the chair. Cut the

KIMBALLCREST

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Moravec and their son, Danny, recently returned from a week in Las Vegas, Nev., where Mr. Moravec attended a pharmaceutical convention. The Moraves, who plan to Nevada on Monday, March 26, returned home last Sunday evening.

While in Las Vegas, they visited with other Lincoln residents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Burt, Dr. Robert D. Gibson, Dr. Witold Saski, Dr. Verne Small, and Dr. Eugene Parrott, who were attending the convention as representatives of the University of Nebraska College of Pharmacy.

And in the news of future events at the Moravec home, we learned that Mrs. Moravec will be hostess at her home on Thursday afternoon at a luncheon meeting of her sewing club.

Expected for the afternoon are Mrs. Selmer Solheim, Mrs. Joseph Carroll, Mrs. Duane Hunt, Mrs. E. A. Olson, Mrs. Larry Lundy, Mrs. Hodson Hansen, and Mrs. John Brickson.

Capt. and Mrs. Donald A. Kellum have as houseguests Capt. and Mrs. William Stringfellow. The Stringfellow arrived Wednesday night from Perrin AFB, Tex., where Capt. Stringfellow has been attending B-58 transition school for the past two months. An impromptu canape party was held Thursday night at the Kellum residence. Guests renewing old acquaintances were Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Utech, Capt. and Mrs. Robert P. Lewis, Capt. and Mrs. John H. Quirk, Lt. and Mrs. Yale R. Davis and Lt. and Mrs. Robert B. Kelly. After canapes the group proceeded to Denton for dinner. Capt. and Mrs. Stringfellow will leave this weekend for Carswell AFB, Tex., where the Air Force officer will complete his training.

An item of interest to all of us is that the famous Strolling Strings from Bolling AFB, Washington D.C., will again make an appearance at LAFB in September. I'm sure that everyone who saw them last year enjoyed their performance tremendously. The OWC usually sponsors a Spring Tea at this time, but have changed to a Fall Tea in order to present the Strolling Strings to all of their members and guests.

The date set for the tea will be the 7th of September. Mark the date on your calendar as this is a function you will not want to miss!

The 371st Bomb Squadron Officers wives held their monthly bridge Thursday afternoon at Cotner Terrace. Hostesses were Mrs. George J. Biggs, Mrs. Ronald Beck-

Mrs. Paul Pudwell left yesterday for Maxwell AFB, Ala., to witness the graduation of Capt. Pudwell from Squadron Officers School. The couple will return together next weekend.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

adage "when it rains, it pours," certainly is true especially in the case of birthdays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Reed. The birthdays on the calendar at the Reeds' this week include daughters, Diane, Barbara and Cindy.

Diane celebrated her third birthday on Friday, March 23. On hand for the celebration Friday afternoon were 10 of Diane's neighborhood friends and her sisters, Barbara and Cindy.

Barbara Reed observed her 11th birthday on Wednesday, March 28. As her anniversary celebration, Barbara chose a family dinner party, at which a friend, Karen Cade was included. After dinner, Kathy Cade joined the group for birthday cake and ice cream.

And on Tuesday, April 3, Cindy observed her ninth birthday with an after-school party. Fifteen guests were present for the festivities which were concluded by a birthday supper in Cindy's honor.

Understand that bridge was the foremost item of concern Monday night, April 2, when Mrs. C. M. Dale, Mrs. George Froscheiser, Mrs. Robert Mahoney, Mrs. Glen Pecha, Mrs. Richard Burns, Mrs. Murv Barry and Mrs. Don Bachman and special guest, Mrs. Duane Demaree met at the home of Mrs. Barry. Co-hostess for the dessert supper and evening of cards was Mrs. Bachman.

MEADOW LANE

News from the home of Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Berry Thompson, tells us that they were host and hostess at a buffet supper last Saturday, preceding the Kosmet Klub's performance of "Guys and Dolls."

Guests at the supper included the Thompsons' son, Don Thompson, and his fiancée, Miss Judy Grazier, both of whom were involved in the Kosmet Klub production, and Miss Grazier's parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Grazier and Jimmy of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

It was "April Showers" in the ballroom of the Hotel Cornhusker Friday evening—regardless of the weather outside—for the members of the Colonial Dancing Club who gathered for their spring dinner-dance and annual election of officers.

Pictured, without the protection of umbrellas, are the couples named to office for the coming year (from the left): Mr. and Mrs. Art Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cunningham, all board members; Mr. and Mrs. Knute Broady, new presidents and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lunde, outgoing presidents.

New board members not pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Groth, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Janike, and Mr. and Mrs.

Evening Ceremony

MRS. TOM ELY

Spring blossoms appointed the altar of the Havelock Christian Church on Friday evening, April 6, for the wedding of Miss Shirley Tate-Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lee, and Tom Ely, son of Mrs. Sally Hopper of Orleans, Ind., and of Nathaniel Ely of Leatherwood, Ky. The service was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Merlin Dana, and Jean Walters, organist, played the wedding music.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Sharon Olson, who wore a full-skirted frock of petal pink chiffon in the daytime length. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

Ralph Varden of Birmingham, Ala., served Mr. Ely as best man, and seating the guests were Leroy Peet, Lincoln, and James McGrath, Darien, Wis.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white lace fashioned in the after-five length. Brief sleeves and a heart-shaped neckline accented the basque, and the skirt flared to hemline width. Her small hat was veiled with illusion, and she carried a white prayer book ornamented with an arrangement of red sweetheart roses.

The couple will reside in Lincoln, where the bridegroom is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Had Chapel Wedding

MRS. PAUL E. UDE

The marriage of Miss Judith Lee Beler, daughter of Mrs. Ernest K. Beler, to Paul E. Ude, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ude, was solemnized Friday evening, April 6, in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church. In the presence of members of the family and a small group of guests, the lines of the 7:30 o'clock service were read by the Rev. William Puls. Miss Josephine Waddell, organist, played the wedding music.

Mrs. John Erickson, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss LaDonna Howell, were costumed identically in jonquil yellow taffeta. Their sheath frocks were complemented by full overskirts of the silk, and they carried cascades of white roses.

Serving Mr. Ude as best man was Jon Morrison, and seating the guests were Jim Hergenrader, Jack Briggs and Glenn Grenemeier.

The bride chose imported Chantilly lace over taffeta in traditional white for her wedding gown. The snug basque was designed with a high, rounded neckline and bracelet sleeves, and the circular skirt, which flared to daytime length, was trimmed at left front with a single large bow of white satin centered with a fabric rose. A crown of lace and pearls held her shoulder veil of illusion, and she carried a modern arrangement of pale yellow roses.

Mr. Ude and his bride, who is a former student at the University of Nebraska, will make their home at 2912 Garfield upon their return from a Colorado wedding trip.

CORRIDOR

BY MOLLY DOW
"The Miracle Worker" by William Gibson will be presented at the spring All-School Play. It tells of the childhood of Helen Keller and the way in which her parents and teacher helped her toward success and social acceptance.

This play is quite different from Southeast's previous ones because of the opportunities it gives for serious acting. However, two recent additions have afforded some amusing moments. One of these is Twinkle, the collie owned by Mrs. Jean Furr, English teacher. Twinkle portrays the Keller family pet and is bound to do an excellent job as he has just received his degree from obedience school. The one main problem, however, is that the stage floor is so slick that

Twinkle can't move! Cynthia Fox, the 7-year-old sister of Diane Fox, playing Helen Keller, also was added to the cast. The two sisters have been wearing blindfolds over their eyes and cotton in their ears to get the feeling of blindness. Cynthia exclaimed, "Diane and I have been bumping into everything while practicing our parts."

Diane and Sally Spohn, playing Anne Sullivan, have visited the College View clinic and have spoken to different people in order to realize the problems of blindness. They also have learned the basic signs of a type of Braille with which they converse in the play. Sally teaches Diane her first word, "water," by spelling it into her hand.

Diane said, "My hardest problem is not to move my eyes around." She cannot make any facial expressions except to show her own thoughts. When someone is talking to her, Diane stares at a particular object near them, and while sitting alone, she stares off into space.

One interesting aspect is that Diane really can get rough on stage. Many times during the beginning of the show, Diane comes and sweeps the food off the table. And while she is playing with the little Negro girl, portrayed by Claire Osborn, Diane nearly pokes her eyes out with some scissors. By now, Diane and Sally are covered with bruises from practicing the "Big Fight." As you can see, she is rather a problem child. It is quite interesting to see how the Keller parents, enacted by Gayle Youngman and Jan Kreader, deal with the mounting problems of their deaf and mute child. But the rewards are great for all when Diane finally learns to communicate.

Two performances will be given of "The Miracle Worker" next Thursday at 3:30 p.m. and again on Friday at 8:00 p.m. It is being sponsored by Thaliens, the Southeast dramatics club, and directed by Mrs. Margaret Cheuvront. The cast has been working very hard every night and is anxious to give an excellent performance—I'm sure it will.

Opening lead — king of spades.

Among the advanced plays in bridge, the squeeze is one of the most difficult of all to execute.

Three important elements are generally necessary for the successful execution of a squeeze.

1. One defender (sometimes both) must have two suits to guard.
2. Declarer must have proper communication between his own hand and dummy.
3. Declarer must be in a position to win all the remaining tricks but one.

This last requirement is the one that alerts declarer to the possibility of a squeeze. Let's see how it applies to the present hand.

West leads the king of spades and South counts eleven sure winners. This means he can win eleven of the thirteen tricks that remain to be played, that is, all but two. In order to establish a squeeze situation, he ducks the king of spades, which then brings him to the all-but-one position.

Let's say West continues with the queen of spades

(no other play affects the result). South takes it with the ace and cashes five heart tricks, discarding a spade and two diamonds from his hand. East is forced to discard a spade and a diamond in order to keep the clubs guarded. West, in the meantime, discards a spade and a club.

These are the remaining cards at this point:

Declarer cashes the A-K of clubs and plays a low diamond to the king. When he then leads the queen of clubs, West, with two suits to guard, cannot discard successfully. If he discards a spade, dummy discards a diamond; if he discards a diamond, dummy discards a spade. There is no escape from the squeeze.

DEAR GIVER: A beautiful idea. Write to your Congressman!

DEAR ABBY: If you are at a restaurant and someone stops by your table to say hello, but stands there and talks while your food is on the table, are you supposed to (1) stop right on eating? (2) stop and let your food get cold?

VICTIM

DEAR VICTIM: If the person says more than hello and it looks like a long siege, invite him to sit down and say, "My food was just served and I would like to eat it while it's hot — I hope you won't mind." If this doesn't make him disappear, nothing will.

not so loud

Do you blow your horn too loudly? Are you too boisterous? Are you playing in good harmony with your fellows? Harmony is a fine word. It means a high order of team work. We modulate our voice, our instrument, so it becomes lost in the ensemble. We make music together. Everyone of us is playing the game of life. How terrifying if we are not performing under the baton of the True Leader. Then, let us not 'toot' our horn too loudly. We must not lose sight of the fact that we are playing with others and for others. An ardent disciple said to the Master, "I will follow Thee, wherever Thou goest." What a resolve! Let us be true disciples and follow our Master to church to worship God every week.

You In The Church
The Church In You
—form a combination
for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker and attend services regularly.

So They May See == 27 Psalm 27 == So They May Hear

THE Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.

4 One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up upon a rock.

6 And now shall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the Lord.

HEAR, O Lord, when I cry with my voice: have mercy also upon me, and answer me.

8 When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I seek.

9 Hide not thy face far from me; put not thy servant away in anger: thou hast been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.

10 When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies.

12 Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.

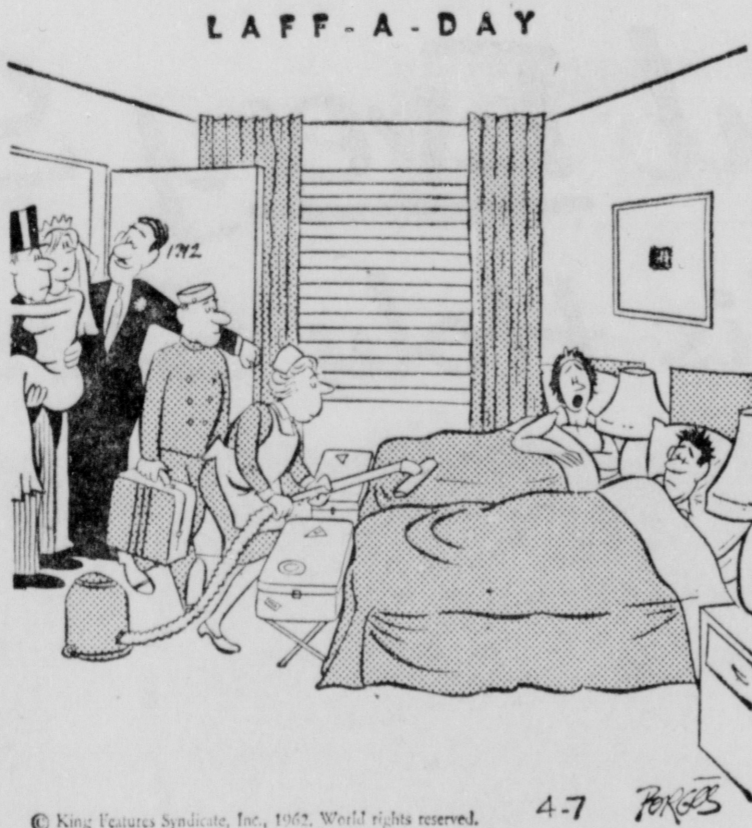

13 I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.

14 Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:
Animals raised apart from their own kind often do not know what species they belong to. In a Vienna zoo, an orphaned white peacock was kept in a house with giant tortoises. For the rest of its life, the bird remained unresponsive to the charms of prettiest peahens.
The Canary Islands got their name from canals, the Latin word for dog. Early explorers found a ferocious breed there. Canaries, in turn, were named for the birds.
The San Blas Indians of Panama rival the most puritanical of Victorians. Parents are so anxious to shelter their children from the facts of life that expectant dogs are kept out of sight.

Palmer Fires 6-Under-Par Round To Lead Masters

Augusta, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer surged back with a 6-under-par 66 Friday and moved two shots in front of South Africa's Gary Player at the halfway point of their tense, birdie-and-eagle duel for the 26th Masters Golf championship.

The muscular young pro from Latrobe, Pa., reeled off 4 birdies in a row on the back 9 after learning that Player had knocked in an eagle on the 15th. He played the back 9 of the fierce Augusta National Course in 31 for a 36-hole total of 136. Player, the first round leader with a 67, fired a steady 71 which placed him second at 138.

Thus the stage was set for another head-to-head battle between these two golfing giants as last year when Player backed into the championship by a single stroke after Palmer had blown himself to a double bogey 6 on the 72nd hole.

Other players in the original 110-man field became little more than window-dressing as Palmer and Player, playing only about a half an hour apart, wrestled each other and the monstrous course before a thrilled crowd of some 25,000.

Almost unnoticed, quiet, soft-spoken Gene Littler, the reigning U.S. Open champion, moved into 3rd place, adding a meticulous 68 to a previous 71 for 139. He was only one stroke back of Player.

Then came Gardner Dickinson, Jr., a 127-pound David among giants at 141 after a second round 71.

Three were tied at 142 — Julius Boros, who tacked a 73 onto his first round 69; Mike Souchak, the former Duke football player with 70-72; and Dow Finsterwald, the slender capitalist of the tour who added a 68 to a previous 74.

However, no one seemed to give anybody else a chance of breaking into the two-man show which has suddenly developed into a links version of a Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight fight.

Palmer is the Dempsey — A powerfully built slugger from the coal regions of Pennsylvania, playing with his sweater rolled to his elbows — showing arms that look like driving shafts of a locomotive.

His strong, nut-brown face a picture of grim determination, Palmer struck out at the 6,990-yard, par 72 course with massive, stunning blows. He was the aggressor all the way.

Player is the Tunney — The precise, polished artisan. He dresses in conservative black with a white turtle-neck sweater. Finesse is his trade mark. He is a brilliant craftsman but conservative.

Palmer, winner of this title in 1958 and 1960, started the second 3 shots back of his little rival from Johannesburg — and about a half-hour behind him off the tee.

While the huge crowd stamped over the broad Augusta fairways, leaving most of the other players to shoot their games in virtual privacy, Palmer and Player engaged in a dramatic struggle that saw the lead change hands or go into a deadlock several times.

Palmer caught his pace-setting rival at the 3rd hole where he knocked in a birdie 3 and Player took a bogey 5. The Pennsylvania pro moved ahead for the first time at the 13th where he started his string of consecutive birdies.

Palmer said he was just going to the 13th when he heard that Player had canned an eagle on the 520-yard 15th. There the South African lashed out with his longest drive of the tournament — A prodigious wallop of about 290 yards — and sent a 4-iron shot flying to the green, 30 feet away from the cup. Then he sank it for a 3.

It was here that Palmer, the determined comebacker who reputed to be the most dangerous come-from-behind competitor in golf, started his relentless charge.

Player was walking up the 18th green when he heard a roar go up at the rear.

"Palmer just got another birdie at the 16th," somebody yelled.

A broad smile broke out on Player's face, and then a look of frustration. He shook his head as if to say: "What's the use?"

The crowd gave him a tremendous ovation.

"Was I conscious of what Palmer was doing out there?" Player said afterward in answer to a question. "I certainly was. I can read the scoreboards and I have ears. The sounds of those cheers from the Palmer gallery ricocheted through the trees and you could hear them from miles around."

"I must say it's a bit distracting to have the best golfer in the world playing behind you."

Texas Meet Delayed By Rain, Cold

Austin, Tex. (AP) — Rain and cold forged postponement of the Texas Relays Friday night session and all events will be held today.

Preliminaries, in which Texas Southern set a record in the college division 880-yard relay, were run off Friday but a steady rain started in mid-afternoon, thus causing postponement of 17 final events scheduled Friday night.

Texas Southern, first all-negro college to enter the Texas Relays, did the 880-relay in 1:23.7 Friday morning when the track was comparatively dry and the weather warm. This time was within 1.1 seconds of the world's record set here last year by Abilene Christian College.

TWO NEBRASKA HURDLERS IN TEXAS FINALS

Austin, Texas (AP) — Two Nebraska athletes qualified for the finals of the 120-yard high hurdles in preliminaries of the Texas Relays Friday.

Bill Fasano had the 3rd best time with 14.7, just two tenths of a second slower than the leader, Pete Whitehouse of Notre Dame. Ronald Moore qualified with 15.2.

Ventler Bowls 300 Game In Practice

Denny Ventler of 4025 N. 70th, bowling with a 182 average rolled a 300 game in practice Friday afternoon at Plaza Bowl.

It was the first 300 game for Ventler and the first to be rolled on the Plaza Alleys. More than 100 women bowling in the Lincoln Officers Wives Club League stopped their league action to watch Ventler complete his 300 game.

At 12:45 a.m., a hospital spokesman said Hunsaker's condition was critical. Surgery for apparent brain damage was expected to last about two hours.

Hunsaker, a former Fayetteville police chief, was felled by a right cross from his opponent, Joe Sheldon of Cleveland, Ohio, with only a few seconds remaining in the 10th and final round.

He took the 10-count, got up and went to his corner. Dr. I. B. Anderson, the ring-side physician, said that while he was talking to Hunsaker, the boxer, about 30, collapsed. Efforts to revive him failed.

He was taken first to Raleigh General Hospital, then was rushed here by ambulance. He was still unconscious upon arrival.

Knights Take City Track Championship

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Southeast's Knights latched onto their first city track championship Friday, edging Lincoln High with a strong showing in the field events.

Southeast, which claimed 8 first places at the Nebraska Wesleyan-staged meet on a sunny but windy day, scored heavily in the field to defeat the Links 82½-75½. Northeast ran 3rd with 46 points.

A 1-2-3 slam in the shot put broke open the team duel, giving the Knights an advantage Lincoln High couldn't overcome.

No city meet records were broken and none of the performances were eye-catching in comparison with other prep marks in the state.

Dennis Gordon's 52.5 quartile victory was the top mark of the day, placing the Lincoln High junior among the state's top ten.

Gordon was one of 3 defending champions successful again Friday.

Although far back in team scoring, Northeast emerged with the best distance runners. Rocket Jake Lee won Northeast's Chuck Squier pulled away in the last 220 yards to win the 880 in a creditable 2:06.4 and Southeast's Bruce Wright had 8 feet to spare with a 139-3 winning discus throw.

The meet's top scorer was a newcomer, however, Southeast's Tippy Dye Jr., who transferred from Wichita when his father took over athletic director duties at Nebraska U.

Dye, a junior, swept to both hurdle victories and placed second to LHS' Dave Collingham in the broad jump.

He was the meet's only double winner.

Junior Bill Zerson led the shot putters with a 45-0 heave and was followed by teammates Wright and husky Carol Stith.

Down only 4 points at the time, Lincoln High dropped 15 back with the shot results.

The low hurdles, ran at 160 instead of 180 yards, had the meet's closest finish. Dye barely staved off a rally by LHS' Dick Fuller.

Although far back in team scoring, Northeast emerged with the best distance runners. Rocket Jake Lee won the mile with mate Tom James 5th. 880 champ Squier had Rocket company in Darold Ringrove and Gary Upton, 4th and 5th. Northeast's two-mile relay team also was victorious.

Lincoln High had won every city track meet since its start in 1954.

Palmer also said that he was kept posted of how Player was doing.

"I looked at the scoreboard," he said. "I knew what I had to do."

Palmer got off to a fast start in pursuit of the South African rolling in a 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first hole. He picked up another bird at the 3rd, with a 5-footer and rolled in one from 20 feet on the 8th.

Two bogeys on the front 9 kept Palmer from challenging the course record of 64, set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1940. On the par 36th, he drove short of the green, chipped to within 5 feet and missed. On the 9th, after a booming drive, he pitched short of the green, chipped 3½ feet past and missed his putt.

But there was no denying the strongboy from Latrobe on the back 9. He ran in a 20-footer at the 10th and after getting pars on the 11th and 12th went birdie-birdie-birdie.

Kansas Slows Title Chances

... SINGLE GAME TODAY

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

A fired-up band of Kansas Jayhawkers raided the University of Nebraska Friday afternoon and when the firing ceased at sundown, the Cornhuskers' Big 8 hopes had been dealt a staggering opening-day setback.

Kansas popped the Huskers in both ends of a doubleheader, winning the opener, 6-4, and copping the frenzied finale, 8-6.

The two loop rivals wind up the series at 1:30 p.m., this afternoon with a single game.

Nebraska proved its own worst enemy on several occasions during the long afternoon, particularly in the second game.

After trailing from the first inning, the Huskers galloped across 5 runs in the 5th inning — pinchhitter Ron McClatchey's double was the only hit — to go in front, 6-5.

But they didn't have long to celebrate. An infield hit and a walk by Ernie Bonistall — laboring in his 2nd relief stint of the day — set up the back-breaker.

Jayhawk Jim Fanning blooped a ball to short right which dropped between NU second baseman Rex Swett and rightfielder Tom Ernst. Ernst then retrieved the ball and fired wild into left field. When order was restored KU had plated two runs and resumed the lead, 7-6.

Another unearned run in the 7th only added to the Husker misery as Bonistall was tagged for the loss, evening his record at 1-1.

Kieth Sieck opened the second game, but couldn't shake his wildness — 6 walks, a wild-pitch and 2 hit batsmen — during the 3 1-3 innings he worked and the Jayhawks piled up a 5-1 lead.

Kansas used the big inning to sack up the first game.

After Ron Havekost nursed a 1-0 lead from the first inning and held the Jays hitless until the 6th, the roof fell with a clatter.

KU, helped by an error, proceeded to tally 6 runs on 5 hits, with the big swats coming from Keith Abercrombie, who homered, with a mate on, and Jim Evisizer, who doubled in a pair.

Nebraska rallied for 3 in the 6th, but left the bases loaded in the 7th without scoring a run.

Swett was the main Husker batter in the opener, going 3 for 3, while Tom Ernst and Dick Becher each got a pair of hits in the second game.

Roger Brock picked up the first win for KU, while the second win went to reliever Monte Stewart.

Both clubs committed 4 errors in the first game, but Nebraska out-booted the Jayhawks, 4-1, in the finale.

lettermen at the four base- ball schools are infielders.

Top returnees are all-city selections Rod Blood, Lincoln High first baseman; John Roux, Southeast second base- man, and Skip Peterson, Northeast shortstop.

Lincoln High's junior south- paw, Bob Hergenrader, who notched a no-hitter as a soph, is another all-city pick of last year and should be the best chucker in town.

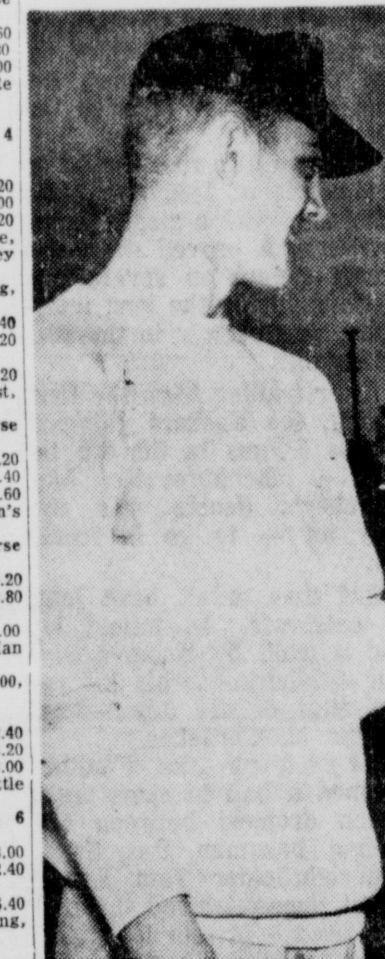

Other veteran hurlers are Harry Leth, of Southeast, Gene Graff of Pius X, and Steve McMullen and Les Tyrell, both of Northeast.

Southeast has only two regu- lars back from last year's state championship team — Leth and Roux. Veteran in- fielder-outfielder Larry Huth- way saw some starting duty last year.

Transfer letterman Dennis Johnson has earned the start- ing third base spot for the Knights.

Northeast, runner-up to SE in the state meet last season, will have an all-veteran in- field and should have the strongest pitching with sopho- more Jerry Motz adding speed to the Tyrell and Mc- Mullen twosome.

Other Rocket infield veter- ans are Dave Lebsack, a 3rd sacker last year, Mickey Stoehr, and Stan Grell.

McCabe, Bristol Pace Exeter Past Uni High

Jim McCabe of Exeter won 3 events and teammate Norm Bristol topped two, in pac- ing the Eagles to a 67-51 dual track victory over University High at the Nebraska U. in- door track Friday.

McCabe, a junior, took first in the low hurdles, high jump and broad jump, then added a second in the high hurdles and ran a leg on the winning mile relay team.

The slender speedster's best performances were in the field, where he soared 5-10 in the high jump and leaped 19-8 1/2 in the broad jump.

Columbus Meet Has Top Field

Columbus — Fourteen Class A prep track teams will com- pete in the Columbus Invita- tional today.

Preliminaries will begin at 10 a.m. with finals at 1:30 p.m.

Top team entries are Grand Island, Omaha Central, Omaha Tech, and Kearney. Other schools running are Omaha Bishop Ryan, Omaha South, Omaha Westside, Bellevue, Boys Town, Columbus, Fremont, Norfolk, Fairbury and Lincoln Pius X.

Outstanding individuals will be GI's Jim Beltzer in the weights, half-miler Jim Wolstenholm of Kearney, sprint- ers Terry Williams, Central; Fred Farthing, Tech, and Tom Millsap, GI; and pole vaulter Mark Ward, Fairbury.

Lincoln High, which passes up the state tourney because of Intercity Conference obli- gations, has the only letter- man catcher in Bob Jones.

Pius X has transformed let- terman pitcher Bob Knight into a receiver, however. Knight is expected to handle most of the catching duties for the Thunderbolts who have 3 other lettermen be- sides Graff and Knight.

The state tourney will be May 21-22 at Nebraska U. All schools may add other games to their baseball slates.

Arson Charges Filed Against 5

Ainsworth (P) — Four businesses were destroyed by fire in Ainsworth Friday and within a few hours charges of arson were filed against 5 persons.

County Attorney Samuel Ely made public the name of only one of the 5 pending arrest of the others. He said Paul Anderson, a youth in his late teens who gave a Minneapolis address, had been arrested at a Bassett hotel and lodged in the county jail.

The fire destroyed Red's Barbership, the C. & L. TV Service, the Ainsworth Body Shop and Chuck's Automotive Repair. An adjoining hotel and lumber yard were saved.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the body shop and spread to the other buildings.

At the time of the fire a car stolen in Minneapolis March 24, and run into a can-

Capture 2nd Fugitive In Park; One At Large

Neligh (P)—Harry McGuire, 39, was captured by Antelope County officers in Neligh about 10:30 a.m. Friday—the second of 3 fugitives from the Kimball County jail to be apprehended.

Sheriff Lawrence Rittscher said McGuire had gone into a store to purchase lunch meat and bread, and a woman in the store telephoned the sheriff's office. About the same time a woman from Oakdale was driving up to the office to report she had seen a stranger going into the park.

Rittscher and a deputy found McGuire in the park west of the Elkhorn River. He offered no resistance and was promptly taken to the Antelope County jail.

McGuire, Donald Gene and Dennis Kazda escaped from the Kimball County jail Sunday, but were traced to the Oakdale, Neb., area where they had abandoned a stolen car. Dennis Kazda, 20, surrendered voluntarily to officers Wednesday night.

Wednesday and Thursday a posse combed the rugged Cedar Creek area around Oakdale without finding further trace of the remaining two fugitives, but Thursday night a car was stolen in Neligh and the sheriff speculated that either McGuire or Donald Kazda might have taken it.

The sheriff said McGuire told him he left the Kazda brothers Tuesday morning, walked into Oakdale by himself Monday evening to buy cigarettes and then walked back to a cabin where the 3 had taken refuge. He said the Kazdas then went into town and broke into a repair shop and a house and brought back two guns. These break-ins had previously been reported.

McGuire was quoted as saying he told the Kazdas "I don't want to shoot nobody." He said he stayed at the cabin that night and left the next morning, heading northwest. Since then, he said, he spent one night in a barn and two nights sleeping on the ground in the open.

Asked if he had seen the searching parties which had combed the area for two days McGuire said "they passed so close one night about dark I could have grabbed a patrolman's leg."

Since McGuire did not have the car reported stolen Thursday night, officers still presumed the thief might have been Donald Kazda, older of the two brothers.

Food, Agriculture Act Goals Aired

... BY FREEMAN AIDE

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

The goals of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 are ones on which there is wide agreement, according to a member of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's staff.

At a National Farm Organization meeting in Lincoln Friday night Duke Nor-berg said the act would provide "most of the tools needed to carry out President Kennedy's recommendations."

Norberg cited the President's aims in the act as:

—Allowing efficient farm operators to earn incomes equivalent to those earned in comparable nonfarm occupations.

—Seeking continued production of food and fiber at reasonable prices in quantities sufficient to meet the needs of all Americans and to combat hunger and contribute to economic development throughout the free world.

—Conserving and using wisely resources of land and water.

End To Poverty

—Seeking an end to rural poverty. Farm children and many farm adults need improved opportunities for education and training to equip them to earn an American standard of living in whatever occupation they freely choose.

Norberg said the act has 4 cornerstones. He said they were:

"Abundance to expand consumption of food and other farm products at home and abroad.

"Balance to adjust the production of commodities now in serious over-supply to whatever level may be required in the best interest of farmers, consumers, taxpayers and the nation's position of international leadership.

"Conservation to achieve better and safer productive uses of natural resources.

"Development to enable rural people, both farm and non-farm, to share more fully in the nation's economic growth through area-wide development and use of resources, rural renewal, fuller employment, and improved community facilities and services.

More than 100 NFO members turned out for the Food and Agriculture Act discussion.

WHAT IS IT?

That's the question this toothy cat gave to experts at the San Diego Zoo when it arrived. Dr. Thomas Williams, Sacramento State College anthropologist said 3 of the little animals were a gift from the people of North Borneo, and were a new species of the civet or genet.

delegate assembly are: Donald Grassmeyer, Lauren L. Holcomb, Thomas Crockett, Mrs. Reba M. Kuklin, Mrs. Ruth K. Stough, Mrs. Edythe Case, Mrs. Winnifred E. Keleher and Mrs. Erva J. Phillips.

Alternate delegates are: Ivan D. Goochey, Frank O. Simon and Donald Sweet.

Financier A. J. Cook Dies In Hollywood

Hollywood — Alfred J. Gock, 72, financier and former board chairman of the Bank of America, died Friday.

Gock, who retired in 1954 as a bank officer, had been a member of the Bank of America board of directors, vice chairman of its General Executive Committee, General Trust Committee chairman and head of the Public Relations Committee of the board of directors.

Reds Spy On Reds

Belgrade — Communist Yugoslavia says its security agents unmasked 325 agents employed by foreign intelligence services in 1961, one-third more than in 1960. Officials said 25% of those rounded up were employed by the estranged communist Albania.

Col. Glenn Would Do Many Things Differently

... ON ANOTHER FLIGHT

Washington (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. said Friday his 3-orbit flight around the earth demonstrated that:

1. Man can control spacecraft during orbit.
2. Man adapts rapidly to the environment of space.
3. A human crew is vital to future space missions for intelligent observation — and action whenever the spacecraft encounters something unexpected.

Glenn and key officials in Project Mercury presented papers on his Feb. 20 space flight at a day-long symposium. Among the 1,400 scientists, medical officers and government officials invited were the scientific attaches of 18 foreign countries, including Russia and several other communist nations.

'Do Things Differently'

In his first hint of any fault-finding, Glenn said that "many things would be done differently if this flight could be flown over again, but we learn from our mistakes."

Glenn added, however, that "I never flew a test flight on an airplane that I didn't return wishing I had done some things differently."

One of the things that should be done differently in space flights, he said, is to keep the astronaut advised of any important worrisome developments on the ground.

Glenn referred to signals received at the Cape Canaveral control center indicating the heat shield of his capsule had come loose.

These signals, of which Glenn was not immediately informed, later proved to be false.

However, they caused the ground crew to decide that Glenn should retain the packet of braking rockets after they had been fired, rather than jettison it over the Pacific before his re-entry as originally planned.

'Keep Updated'

"I feel it more advisable in the event of suspected malfunctions, such as the heat-shield-retroprop difficulties, that require extensive discussion among ground personnel to keep the pilot updated on each bit of information rather than waiting for a final clear-cut recommendation from the ground," he said.

"This keeps the pilot fully informed, if there would happen to be any communications difficulty and it became necessary to make all decisions from onboard information."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, opening the meeting, said Glenn had demonstrated conclusively that the role of man in space is no longer open to question.

He added that Glenn's flight had given reassurance "that the proper place for man is anywhere that man can go — anywhere his skill and courage can take him."

Non-Emergency Fire Dept. Calls Sound Alarms

Fire Department officials Friday asked Lincolinites not to call their emergency number, HE 2-2222, except to report a fire or other emergency.

Over 400 calls tied up emergency lines Thursday and Friday. Most the calls were to ask permission to burn leaves.

Another number, HE 2-2122, should be called for such requests, the department said. A spokesman explained that calling the emergency number rings an alarm that puts all firemen on alert.

Second Victim Loses His Life In Grand Island Road Crash

Grand Island (P)—Richard Schoenfelder, 35, Rochester, Minn., died in a Grand Island hospital of burns suffered in a collision and fire involving a truck and two passenger cars near Grand Island Wednesday. He was the second victim of the accident.

Schoenfelder, an occupant of the truck, was believed to have suffered most of the serious burns on the upper part of his body while trying to remove the truck driver, Charles Neal, 27, of San Francisco from the truck after the accident. Neal was pinned in the cab and died at the scene.

The death brings Nebraska's 1962 highway fatality toll to 62 compared with 68 at this time a year ago.

Safety Patrolman Charles Headley said the truck collided with one passenger car and veered into the left traffic lane. He said Neal apparently attempted to swerve back into his own lane to avoid another truck, but overturned, striking a second car. The truck caught fire.

Occupants of the passenger cars involved were not seriously hurt.

Initial Steps Taken For Statewide Hog Cholera Eradication Campaign

Representatives of the Nebraska swine industry set up organizational machinery here Friday for a statewide hog cholera eradication campaign.

Some 75 persons attended a day-long meeting at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, which concluded with the appointment of a 4-man interim committee, composed of Willard Waldo of DeWitt, purebred swine breeder; George Pick of Hartington, president of the Nebraska Swine Council; Dr. Leo Lucas and Dr. E. Crosby Howe, University of Nebraska Extension animal husbandman and veterinarian, respectively.

The 4 were instructed to draw up plans for a state committee with at least half the membership made up of swine producers, and the balance representing the meat packers, terminal market and livestock auction interests; the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association; and biologic concerns which manufacture livestock serum and virus compounds.

Most of the groups slated for membership on the state committee were present at the exploratory session.

After hearing various authorities outline the status of hog cholera, past, present and future, the group adopted in principle 9 steps toward eradicating hog cholera approved by the National Hog Cholera Committee, sponsored by Livestock Conservation, Inc. The points briefly are immunization, cooking of garbage fed to swine, prohibition of the general use of virulent hog cholera virus, quarantine of infected swine and premises, disposal of dead animals and restriction on movement of infected pigs, disinfection of premises, controlled movement of swine both intra- and interstate, and an expanded educational program on hog cholera and its economic impact on the swine industry.

Strong sentiment was expressed, however, that any program developed be tailored to Nebraska conditions and interests, i.e., a distinct "Nebraska program," rather than a "cut-and-dried" federal version.

Dr. F. E. Ziegenbein, state veterinarian, indicated that Nebraska will make it possible to implement most of the 9 points without new legislation, but noted that stricter enforcement will be required for a successful program.
